

Donkey's Ear Shooting Box

The name is derived from the fact that an end view looks like a Donkey's ear. This shooting box is invaluable for mitering thin box lining material such as in jewelry cases. A tablesaw with a high quality carbide blade makes short work of constructing this gem.

©Ernie Conover 2010

